Description

Novalab Oy was established in 1988. It is a private, independent and an impartial laboratory for chemical and microbiological analysis of food, animal feed, water and environmental samples. Our clients come from the different sectors of the society, such as city and municipal authorities and other institutions. We have customers from the food, animal feed, food supplement and pharmaceutical industries. Customers come also from the metal, wood processing and chemical industries. We also serve environmental research companies, universities and private persons too.
